WHEELER & WILSON, MANUFACTURING COMPANYS

IMPROVED SEWING MACHINES Manufactured at Watertnon, Coan., Office and Warercoms at 343 Broadway, N. Y.

THESE Machines have been in succe sful opera tion, in the hands of manufacturers and famifor the past two years, and in every case have given universal satisfaction. The proprietors are now prepared to offer them to the public, with that increased confidence in their merits, which the united testimony of their numerous customers has strengthened and confirmed. These machines are girely different from any other, the principles on such they are made being exclusively our own.

Among the advantages of this Machine over any others are the following. 1. The simplicity of its construction, and the ease with which it can be kept in the most perfect order. 2. The perfect manner with which the operator is enabled to stitch and sew the various kinds of work, from the finest linen to the coarsest cloths.

3. It particularly excels in the rapidity with which work can be executed, and in that respect it has no equal.

4. The little power required to propel them, enabling even those of the most delicate constitution to use them without injury to their hea'th.

We are now manufacturing a larger-sized machine more particularly adapted to the sewing of leather, canvas bags, and the heavier kinds of cloths. An examination of our Machines is respectfully solicit d at our Office, 343 Broadway, N. Y. may 24-1m HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. WE GIVE YOU FACTS! We Appeal to your own Citizens!

THOUSANDS SPEAK ITS PRAISE!

This article, which has made so many wonderful cures wherever tried, was discovered by Dr. JESSE HAMPTON, now in fine health, in the 79th year of his age. He was born in Virginia in the year 1775, and emigrated to Kentucky, then a wilderness, with his father in 1779. In early manhood he was so reduced by disease as to be almost wrecked in consti-tution. He spent much of his living for medical advice and attention; and grew nothing better, but worse. Finding no relief from his physician, he resolved to try the restorative powers of the roots, barks, leaves, plants, &c., of the forest. He then dwelt in the midst of the Red Men of the Western Vilids. Having heard much of their skill in the use of the vegetable remedies of the forest, and krowing their mode of medicinal practice must be one of practical experience, and not of theoretical speculation, he made himself acquainted with their remedies, and also with the practical medicinal knowledge the early settlers of Kentucky had obtained from the "medi ine men" of the Indians. He care fully studied tne nature of the medicines used by them, combined them according to the light he rethe cheering satisfaction of finding disease driven from his emaciated body, and vigorous health given in its stead. His case was of no ordinary kind, but astonishing to his friends and neighbors. The fame of it spread; the people far and near sent to the Dector for his successful and wonderful combination of Indian Remedies, which was freely given to them, until the cases became so numerous, and the demand so great, that the Doctor wrs advised by his friends and induced through justice to himself, to put up his Vegetable Tincture in bottles, and charge a price for it, which was reely given-finding its way into the first and most intelligent families, and astonishing all by its wonderful cures, commanding

THE GREAT BASIN.

Territory, bounded on the north by the Wahstack mountains and the settlements of the Mormons in Utah, on the east by I vania avenue near 12th street opposite the the Rocky Mountains skirting the right bank of the Rio Grande, on the south by the Gila, and the west by the Sierra Nevada, is a region still almost unknown. Trappers and mountaineers have passed all around the inner side of its rim, but none have ever crossed it with the exception of Mr. Beale, who traversed on his recent trip its northern slope, and Capt. Joe. Walker, the famous mountaineer, who passed nearly through its centre in the winter of 1850. But little, therefore, is known regarding it, but that little is mind with eagerness to know more. From Captain Walker we have gathered many particulars regarding his celebrated trip, and the character of this mysterious land, which have never before been brought to light. There is no lack of streams within it; the Rio Colorado Chiquito, or Little Red River, runs entirely across it, about 100 miles to the northern homes, directed by their pronorth of the Gila, and almost parallel to it, and empties into the Colorado. About 120 miles still farther north, the San Juan they found where the city of Mexico now follows exactly the same course as the Little Red, and empties into Grand River, the most important branch of the Colorado. Grand River itself pursues a course a little south of west across the northern part of the Basin, while the Avoukeree, a large river discovered by Mr. Beale, Green River, and the Rio Virgin, are all large streams, which drain the northern mountain rim and rain in a southerly direction into the Colorado. The Great Basin between the Colorado and the Rio Grande is an immense table entirely uninhabited even by the lowest order of Indians. But though now so bleak and forbidding, strewn all around may be seen the evidences that it was once peopled by a civilized and thickly settled population. They have long since disappeared, but their handiwork still remains to attest their former greatness. from the Colorado to the Rio Grande, between the Gila and San Juan, is full of rvined habitations and cities, most of the Gila, it was not until his last trip across, that he ever saw a structure stand-carved upon a piece of pottery. Lieut. Beale states that, on his first trip across the continent, he discovered, in the midst of the wilderness north of Gila, what appeared to be a strong fort, the walls of great thickness, built of stone. He traversed it, and found it contained forty-two rooms. Ir the vicinity were met with numerous balls of bard clay, from the size of a bullet to that of a grape shot. What was singular about them was the fact, that frequently ten or twenty were stuck together, like a number of bullets run out of half a dozen connecting moulds, or like a whole baking of rolls. It is difficult to say what these were intended for. They were so hard, however, that the smaller ones could be discharged from a exceedingly interesting, and fills the gun. And now it remains for the antiquarians to explore this most interesting region in the very heart of our country, and to say who were the people that inhabited it.
